PHILLIPS' VISITATION.

Relief for the People Burned Out by Forest Fire.

FIFTEEN LIVES PROBABLY LOST.

List of the Dead So Far Recovered Who Were Sacrificed While Trying to Escape the Flames—Wisconsin Will Care for Her Stricken Citizens.

PHILLIPS, Wis., July 30.—The terrible scene at Phillips beggars all description. Not since the terrible forest fires destroyed Peshtigo has anything occurred which will compare with the scene of ruin here. A committee of citizens from Ashland arrived with a special train of provisions Saturday night at 9 o'clock. It was the first material relief to arrive and it reached here just in time to keep the people from actual suffering for want of food. The provisions were given out in small quantities, so as to make them last as long as possible and keep something available until other provisions arrived. Men and women walk the streets, all begrimed, wringing their hands and bemoaning their sad fate.

One church, a town hall and a few small buildings are all that are left standing. They were immediately converted into shelter for the destitute, but only a few of the women and children could crowd into them. A vast multitude had to go without shelter and food Saturday night, but tents were brought in from neighboring towns, and improvised huts were utlized last night. Governor Peck and his staff arrived from Madison yesterday. Governor Peck brought a large quantity of sheeting with him, which is being converted into tents. A dozen cars of provisions have arrived from various cities, and the organization for relief has been completed.

Relief trains fairly poured into Phillips yesterday and there are supplies of food here now sufficient to last the fire sufferers a month. The relief committee asks especially for clothing and money, and these will be amply provided by the people of the state without outside help. Men are at work building a large mess tent, where the homeless people will be fed, and putting up temporary structures where they can sleep.

The sale of liquor has been stopped, owing to the arrival of parties of tramps and rough characters, who threatened trouble. A box car has been turned into a jail, special deputies sworn in and all lawlessness will be suppressed.

Great crowds of residents who were chased out of their city by flames on Friday are returning to look over the ruins. Already lumber is being shipped in, and building operations have already begun.

Two more bodies have been recovered from the river where the terrible holocaust occurred. The boat house on which the desperate men, women and children took refuge was shoved from the shore. Before it had gone far the suction of the flames drew it right up into a regular furnace of fire. The boats were either overturned or the people jumped. It is now estimated that fifteen lives were lost at this place. It is supposed that the bodies of several children are buried under the ruins of the wagon and foot bridge, which it is claimed gave way while they were trying to escape from the flames to the peninsula which runs out into the lake.

Mrs. Cliss, who was picked up after clinging to an overturned boat for an hour, is doing nicely, and it is thought she will recover.

The list of dead thus far recovered from the river is as follows: Mrs. Dave Bryden and two children, Frank Cliss and one child. An unknown person found burned beyond recognition proved to be a woman, and was so described by the coroner's jury. There are three still in the water—Mrs. James Locke and two children.

Thrown from a Carriage to Death.

BELLAIRE, O., July 30.—A terrible accident occurred at New Martinsville, W. Va., south of here, on the Ohio river, which resulted in the instant death of two persons and the fatal injury of one other. While driving two spirited colts along a country road they became frightened, throwing the driver, John Kabel, a prominent farmer, his daughter, Mrs. Drusilla Hook, and her 4-year-old child out of the carriage. Kabel's neck was broken, and he died instantly. Mrs. Hook had her shoulders and breast crushed, skull fractured and ribs broken, and died soon after. The child had an arm broken and skull fractured and cannot recover.

New York's Heat Victims.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Total cases of death by sunstroke and heat prostration yesterday were: Michael Lowell, 32 years old; Thomas Spencer, 39; John Toomey, 50; John Daly, 25 years; James McGowan, 62, a laborer in Central park; Mary Scheusted, 3 months old; Henry D. Holzwartz, 36, died at his residence from the effects of the heat. An unknown man was prostrated in Brooklyn and died before an ambulance could be summoned.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands can testify. Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most, of the remedies in general use afford but temporary relief. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes. Ely's Cream Balm, which is so highly commended, is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power, with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient. The druggists all sell it.

Bids for an Eastern League Franchise.

NEW YORK, July 30.—An Eastern League baseball franchise is a valuable piece of property. This fact was established at a meeting of the directors and managers of the association at the Broadway Central hotel yesterday afternoon, when Scranton and Harrisburg, Pa., and Johnstown, N. Y., bid strongly for the privilege of taking the place of the defunct Troy team in that organization. Dispatches were also received from Rochester, N. Y., and Toronto, Ont., asking for a consideration of their claims before a decision was made. The result was a postponement of decisive action until the circuit committee can investigate the applicants and choose the most promising one.

Fatal Accident to a Royalist.

VIENNA, July 30.—Archduke William III, son of the late Archduke Charles, and a second cousin of Emperor Francis Joseph, met with an accident yesterday that resulted in his death. He was riding at Weikersdorf, near Baden, when his horse shied, being frightened by a passing electric car. The archduke was thrown out of the saddle, and in falling his head struck a stone. One of his feet became entangled in a stirrup, and, the horse running, he was dragged some distance before the animal was stopped. The archduke, who was unconscious when picked up, died shortly afterward.

Wreck of a Large Vessel Seen.

BALTIMORE, July 30.—Captain Mollier, of the steamer H. H. Meier from Bremen, reports that in latitude 40.58 north, and longitude 67.31 west, about ten miles south of Nantucket lightship, the Meier almost ran into a wreck of a copper bottomed vessel. It was the hulk of a large vessel, and looked as if it had been cut in two, presumably by a collision. Near it floated a painted deck house and a part of a mast painted white.

Slept on a Load of Ice.

DOWNINGTOWN, Pa., July 30.—The remains of John Todd, colored, who died under remarkable circumstances, have just been interred here. A few nights ago he drove over from Coatesville with a load of ice for William Krauter. With nothing but a blanket between him and the ice he slept all the way during the drive home. This resulted in cramps that killed Todd.

The Situation at Bluefields

NEW ORLEANS, July 30.—A letter from the Associated Press correspondent at Bluefields, dated July 23, shows that no trouble had taken place there up to that date. The natives are keeping a close guard of all the avenues, awaiting the arrival of the Nicaraguan troops. General Gabiez is still at Rama, where he is gathering troops.

Blindness Cured by Faith.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 30.—Through protracted prayer at the grave of Rev. Father O'Haren, in Hanover cemetery, and the application of loose earth from his grave to her eyes, Mrs. Mary Coyle, of this city, claims to have been cured of blindness. Mrs. Coyle has been blind for fifteen years, and Father O'Haren was her former pastor.

Home and Abroad.

It is the duty of everyone, whether at home or traveling for pleasure or business, to equip himself with the remedy which will keep up strength and prevent illness, and cure such ills as are liable to come upon all in every day life. Hood's Sarsaparilla keeps the blood pure and less liable to absorb the germs of disease.

Hood's pills are hand made, and perfect in proportion and appearance. 25c per box.

A Baby's Life Saved.

WALTON, N. Y., April 14, 1894.—When my baby was six months old she was taken very badly with diarrhœa. A doctor came every day for a week. Baby got worse, until she could notice nothing at all. I got so worried I called on our druggists and he recommended Dr. Hand's Diarrhœa Mixture. I got it and just one-half a bottle cured my baby and saved her life.

FATAL BOILER EXPLOSION

Three Men Killed and Another Terribly Scalded.

ASHLAND, Pa., July 30.—One out of a nest of six boilers at Lehigh Valley No. 4 colliery exploded Saturday night, instantly killing one man and severely injuring three others, two of whom have since died. The dead are: John Miller, aged 45 years, of Girardville; John Laubach, of Shenandoah, aged 25 years; Darby Shields, aged 45 years, of Shenandoah. Miller leaves a wife and four children, and Shields a wife and five children. Laubach was a single man. The fourth victim was Steve Solsky, a Polander, who was badly scalded about the face and body, but will recover.

The cause of the explosion is a mystery, the boilers having been inspected on Saturday. At the time of the explosion the men were engaged in making the steam pipe connections and placing the fire under the boilers. The building in which the boilers were located was wrecked and two other boilers were displaced.

Larkin Proves His Identity.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The strange case of identity wherein Mrs. Margaret Butler claims Thomas J. Larkin, an employe of the dock department, as her husband, came up in the Jefferson Market police court again yesterday. Larkin brought a number of witnesses to prove his identity. One was an undertaker who proved that Larkin's mother was buried in America and not in Liverpool. Mrs. Butler claims that Larkin is the husband who eighteen years ago left her in Liverpool, where she married him. Larkin had her arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, because Mrs. Butler persisted in annoying him. Larkin's identity being fully paid, Mrs. Butler was discharged with caution.

A Rival to Pullman.

CHICAGO, July 30.—The Herald says: If negotiations now pending are carried to a successful termination the striking car builders at Pullman will quit the "model town" in a body and become the employes of a powerful new corporation organized for the manufacture of palace and freight cars and day coaches. "The corporation which is making these offers means business," said a capitalist who has had a part in the negotiations, "and if a definite arrangement can be made all of the skilled mechanics at Pullman will be hired in a body."

Arson to Hide Murder.

GREENVILLE, Miss., July 30.—On Thursday last Walter Watson, colored, received several hundred dollars in pension money. Watson resides on Egypt Ridge plantation in Bolivar county, a few miles north of Greenville. Saturday it was found that Watson had been murdered and robbed. The body was placed in his cabin and the latter set on fire, so that only the charred body of the old negro remained. George Hall, a colored ex-convict, is under arrest, charged with the terrible crime.

After the Lottery Thieves.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—A strong demand is being made by religious bodies for the house to pass the anti-lottery bill, which Senator Hoar introduced in the senate, and which passed that body. The penalties provided by the pending bill are very heavy, the first offense being punishable by imprisonment for not more than two years, or by a fine of not more than $1,000, or both, and after the first offense by such imprisonment only.

Murdered by Drowning.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 30.—Near Moscow, Ala., several young men were swimming in the Tombigbee river, when Walter and Hinton Wright, brothers, caught James Whitehead and held him under the water until he drowned. Walter Wright and Whitehead were both in love with the same girl, who had discarded Wright for Whitehead. The Wright boys are in jail for murder.

Suspicious Drowning Accident.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., July 30.—Saturday afternoon five young men were bathing in the Raritan river below the steamboat dock at Sandy Bottom. One of the number was seen clinging to the dock log. A moment after he either fell or was pulled forcibly into the river. He sank at once and was drowned. The other four men hastily dressed themselves and disappeared.

Michigan Iron Miners Resume.

IRONWOOD, Mich., July 30.—The miners' union yesterday voted the strike off, and the men returned to work today, after being out six weeks. The troops left this morning. The strike cost the mine owners, men and the county several hundred thousand dollars. The leader of the strike is still in jail, unable to secure bonds.

THE WAR IN COREA.

Japanese Believe That China Is Merely Sparring for Time.

DESTRUCTION OF THE KOW SHING.

Of Nearly Two Thousand Troops on Board, Only Forty Were Saved by the French Gunboat Lion—Coreans Opposing All Foreigners.

SHANGHAI, July 30.—The Chinese official account of the recent engagement between Chinese and Japanese warships says that the Chinese ironclad Chen-Yuen, which is one of the largest vessels of her class belonging to the northern fleet, retreated to Notze and escaped capture by the Japanese. The latter, the report adds, captured a dispatch boat and sank a transport. Six other transports escaped. News has been received here that on the same day the naval engagement took place the Japanese troops ashore attacked the Chinese at Asan. No details of the attack have been received.

Last evening further details of the naval engagement reached this city. The fighting, though of short duration, was very severe. One of the Japanese warships got within a comparatively short distance of the transport Kow Shing and discharged a torpedo at her. The missile was well directed and struck the transport fairly. A terrific explosion followed, and the Kow Shing began at once to fill.

Prior to the discharge of the torpedo the crew of the transport, which was armed, and the military force on board of her made a hard fight against the attacking force. Many of those on board of her were shot dead on her deck.

When the vessel began to sink there was great excitement on board. In the dire confusion that prevailed no attempt was made to lower the small boats. But even had such an attempt been made the boats could have carried only a small percentage of those on board. Every foreigner on board the transport, which had been chartered by the Chinese government from an English company, was either killed in the fighting or went down with the vessel when she foundered.

The loss of life was very great. Of nearly two thousand Chinese troops on board of her only forty were saved. They were picked up by the French gunboat Lion, that was cruising in the vicinity at the time.

Only a short time elapsed between the explosion of the torpedo and the foundering of the transport. The vessel went down suddenly near Shopiont Island, at which place her commander made an attempt to beach her.

The Tsao Kiang, which was captured by the Japanese, was an old man-of-war that had been impressed into use as a transport. Many men were killed on board of her before she fell into the hands of the Japanese.

COREANS DEMAND REFORM.

A Powerful Organization Formed to Drive Out Foreigners.

LONDON, July 30.—As the result of inquiries made of experts in eastern politics and persons who have resided in Corea, the representative of the Associated Press learns that widespread discontent exists in Corea because of the corruption and misgovernment that everywhere prevail. One of the most powerful revolutionary factors in the country is a quasi religious sect called Tong Hak, which ascribes the precarious condition of Corean trade and commerce to the presence of foreigners in the country. This sect has set for itself the task of ridding Corea of the hated foreigners, and has threatened the Japanese and other foreign residents. Among the charges brought against the foreigners is one that they have caused an enormous increase in the prices of food stuffs, without any benefit accruing to the Coreans.

The king of Corea possesses no real authority, and he is in constant terror of a revolution that will sweep him from his throne. He is heavily in debt, and the whole country is in a state of anarchy. To this condition of affairs is due the revolt that recently started in one of the provinces.

Last year 30,000 Coreans, armed and unarmed, threatened to march on the capital, Seoul, and expel the foreigners. This rebellion was suppressed, but the country has been disturbed ever since. Reforms in the administration are regarded as absolutely necessary, not only to save the commerce of the country, but for the safety of foreigners.

Advices have reached here indicating that the Japanese attacked the Chinese troops who landed at Asan from the transports that escaped from the Japanese warships. It is added that China has prohibited the exportation of rice or grain. Torpedoes have been laid in the North channel and the entrance of Yang Tse Kiang river. The Chinese government is buying war material freely.

The Japanese Suspicions.

YOKOHAMA, July 30.—An imperial edict has been issued, calling out the army and navy reserves and ordering them to report forthwith at their respective headquarters. The Chinese residents of Japan are greatly alarmed at the threatening outlook and are fleeing from the country in large numbers. At Tokio the conviction is growing in official circles that the Chinese negotiations are simply a pretext to gain time in order to allow China to concentrate her forces for the purpose of making a combined attack on the Japanese. Reliable information has been received at Tokio that the main body of the Chinese army crossed the northwestern frontier of Corea on July 25. Further firing on Japanese ships on the Corean coast is reported.

Why Intervention Was Asked.

BERLIN, July 30.—Advices received here from Seoul, by way of Shanghai, show that upon the refusal of Corea to accede to Japan's demand that the Chinese troops be sent out of the country the Japanese advanced on Seoul. After a short encounter, in which the Coreans were defeated, the Japanese occupied the royal palace. The king of Corea, thereupon, asked the foreign representatives to intervene.

Children Terribly Maltreated.

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 30.—A habeas corpus trial instituted by the orphans' home officials here to recover custody of Rosa McKnight, a child who was taken from the institution by her mother, is developing a sensational state of affairs at the home. Children are alleged to have been horribly whipped, chained in a dark room and even burned with hot bottles as punishment for trivial offenses. The trial is creating intense interest.

Five Hundred Tribesmen Killed.

PARIS, July 30.—A dispatch from St. Louis, Senegal, says that a force of natives led by Ali Kari, a Marabout who recently preached at Jehad, in Badlagara, made an attack upon the French force. The latter repulsed the natives, and, following up their advantage, captured their stronghold. Ali Kari and 500 of his supporters were killed. One European and eight natives on the French side were killed. Six officers, fifteen Europeans and 128 natives, were wounded.

A Mountain Raised by Dynamite.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 30. — Twelve thousand tons of rock were loosened by a blast made in a quarry at Egypt, this county. Twenty-two holes were bored into the side of the mountain aggregating 196 feet, and into the holes were placed a ton and a half of dynamite. The whole mountain was raised several feet into the air and fell back again.

Abandoned the A. R. U.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30. — The strike among the stevedores at Gladstone, Mich., was ended yesterday by the men abandoning the American Railway union and turning over their cards of membership to Superintendent Kellie. Some of the more turbulent of the leaders were not permitted to work.

Caught Cutting Telegraph Wires.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Emil Blum, a German, caught cutting Western Union telegraph wires in the subway at Twenty-fifth street and Broadway, was held in $500 bail for trial. He resolutely refused to tell the motives of the gang of telegraph wire cutters to which he said he belonged.

Dropped Dead at His Home.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., July 30.—Jacob Craft, a retired farmer, dropped dead at his home in this town. He was 81 years old, and wealthy.

Weeding Out Strikers.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 30.—Eight hundred and ten employes on the Wyoming division of the Union Pacific have already left their jobs by reason of the recent strike, and probably a hundred more will follow. Thus far about a hundred men have been imported to take the places of the men who have been discharged.

Two Thousand Houses Destroyed.

SOFIA, July 30.—A disastrous conflagration has destroyed 2,000 houses at Cottel, a town of Bulgaria. Full details of the disaster have not been received, but it is believed that many persons have perished. The townspeople whose houses were burned are camping out in the fields.

Mrs. Cleveland's Stepfather Ill.

BUFFALO, July 30.—Much concern is felt over the condition of Henry E. Perrine, of this city, stepfather of Mrs. Grover Cleveland. He is seriously ill at his home on Elm avenue. Mrs. Perrine, who is visiting her daughter at Gray Gables, has been summoned home.

Live Stock Cremated.

HAZLETON, Pa., July 30.—During a storm lightning struck and set fire to the barn of Patrick Riley, at Dorrance, entirely consuming the structure. Twelve head of horses, seven cows and all the farm products of the season were consumed.

Senator Voorhees Better.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Senator Voorhees, of Indiana, who has been ill for the last few days, is reported much better. It is stated that he expects to resume his labors in the senate tomorrow at the latest.

A Lover's Quarrel Causes Suicide.

HAZLETON, Pa., July 30.—Daisy Fitzinger, of Drums, committed suicide by taking a dose of laudanum because of a lover's quarrel she had had with Robert Rausch.

ANOTHER DEADLOCK

Predicted in Congress on the New Tariff Bill.

THE CONFEREES DETERMINED.

It Is Said That the Representatives of Both the Senate and House Will Insist on Their Different Versions, and That an Agreement Is Impossible.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The proceedings in the senate during the present week will depend largely on the conferees on the tariff bill. If they should reach a conclusion during the week, as every one expects they will, the report will be made to the senate, that body having granted the request for a conference, and the report will be taken up at the first opportunity.

Whatever the nature of the report, there is sure to be more or less debate upon it. Even should the senate bill be accepted in its entirety by the house there will be some speeches on the part of the tariff leaders, and possibly other senators, though in this event there would be a general disposition to curtail them both in length and number on account of the desire which is felt in all quarters to bring the session to a close at the earliest possible date.

This disposition would not be allowed to control in case the report should indicate any material concessions to the house. In case of reductions on either coal, iron ore or sugar there are Democratic senators who would resist the request, and another family quarrel on the floor of the senate would be the inevitable result. There are also Democratic senators who would make a strenuous opposition to material changes in the metal, woolen and cotton schedules, and the Republicans would in the latter event be found participating. It is not probable that Senator Quay will submit quietly to any important modification of the metal schedule, nor that Senator Aldrich would permit changes in the rates on woolens to be made without entering a vigorous protest, and the result would be a prolongation of the debate, with the end of forcing a return to the senate rates.

It looks very much like a deadlock unless the house conferees yield, as there is no indication of any purpose on the part of the senators to do so. The senate conferees talk frankly about the situation, and plant themselves firmly upon the proposition that the sentiment in the senate is such that it must be the senate bill or no bill.

The full conference between members of the two houses, with Republicans as well as Democrats present, will be held this afternoon, when it is presumed the senate conferees will be informed of the decision of their house colleagues on the senate ultimatum of Saturday.

The decision which the senators are awaiting, it is asserted, will be a flat refusal on the part of the house conferees to yield to the senate demand in whole or in part. The determination to give this negative response has been agreed on definitely by the house conferees. It had been expected that the intense feeling of the last week would clear the atmosphere and lead to some common ground of agreement, but when the house conferees were met by a demand to yield in toto sugar, coal and iron they assumed an aggressive and determined stand. At their meeting each of the four house members were asked to state if his views had changed in any way since the former conference. It developed that not one of the four had modified his views in the slightest. They were, therefore, a unit in declining to accede to the demand of the four senate conferees.

The first days of the week will be given up to the sundry civil appropriation bill. This bill always arouses more or less debate. The bill this year will probably prove no exception, and it is likely that two or three days will be devoted to it unless it should be sidetracked by the tariff. With the sundry civil bill disposed of the general deficiency bill will be the only appropriation bill remaining unacted on by the senate.

No plan of proceedure has been arranged for the house of representatives, as Speaker Crisp wants to keep the way clear for the tariff bill if an agreement can be reached. The only business set for the week is the Funston-Moore contested election case on Wednesday. The petition circulated by Mr. Springer for a Democratic caucus tomorrow at 3 p. m. is likely to cut an important figure in the week, unless Springer, Crisp and other leaders succeed in having the caucus abandoned. Much feeling has arisen over the caucus, as it is construed as a reflection on the house conferees. The latter are up in arms, and there is promise of a warm personal controversy if the caucus is held.

DON'T QUARREL WITH THE PAST.

Don't pick a quarrel with the past,
My friend, whate'er you do.
Do not annoy it; let it be,
And it won't trouble you.
But if you plague it long enough
Some time you'll stand aghast
To see how 'twill avenge itself.
Don't quarrel with the past.

Don't pick a quarrel with the past,
My friend, but go your way,
And if you must a quarrel have
Come, quarrel with today.
Today is nearer to your size,
The past a monster vast,
Invulnerable and all untamed,
Don't quarrel with the past.

Don't pick a quarrel with the past,
My friend, for if you knew
The past has other foes enough
To fight, and so have you.
But if you wilfully persist
You'll surely be outclassed,
And all your other foes will laugh.
Don't quarrel with the past.

—Persis E. Darrow in Good Housekeeping.

THE GOLDEN CAVES.

There were three of us—Ned Copley, an old Rocky mountain hunter, who, when game got scarce or furs unprofitable, took up the equally hazardous calling of gold seeking; Frank Edgerton, a handsome young Kentuckian, who had come out to win a sudden fortune, and myself, who had made one fortune in the goldfields, lost it and was now out to get another and with the firm determination to hang onto it if I struck luck again.

Across the Sierra Madre mountains in the San Juan region was a mighty dreary, lonely country in those days, with the water flowing down out of sight in the bottoms of the canyons, and the nearest white settlement 300 miles away in eastern Colorado.

Ned Copley had hunted all through this country with Kit Carson, and he belived it was rich in gold, and that if we kept our purpose to ourselves we "would make our everlasting fortunes," to use his own words.

We left Taos in the early spring and while all the encircling mountains were covered low down with snow, looking like glistening marble walls supporting a sky so clear and blue and cloudless that it looked as if it was hewn out of a globe of torquoise.

Frank Edgerton had a nobler motive than his two partners. We were out to find gold for the sake of the power and the comforts it would give, and it may be with thoughts of the deference that would be paid us by the less fortunate when we were rich men, but our handsome young companion was moved to face the hardships and brave the dangers of the expedition by no such mercenary purpose.

He was not more than five and twenty, with brown eyes and curly hair, and a silky mustache and beard of the same hue, and a mouth full of even white teeth, and his fine face seemed ever the home of good nature and laughter. No matter how long the march or steep the trail, no matter how long miles between the springs or the indications of Indians in the neighborhood, Frank was always cheery and happy, and his laughter and his songs, for he had an excellent voice, lightened many a long march and dispelled the gloom from many a lonely camp in the heart of the canyons.

We had not been many days out before Frank Edgerton opened his heart and gave us the secret of his constant happiness. He was in love, not "dead in love," but living in love; the glorious passion possessed him. It bubbled from his lips in laughter and song and glared from his eyes in exultation.

"Who is she, boys?" he said one day in answer to my question, for I, an old, loveless and perhaps unlovable bachelor, half envied him his possession.

"She ain't no ordinary girl, Susie Burns ain't. Heaven cut her out for a first class angel and never changed the original plan.

"Here's her picture, and let me say you two are the only strangers that ever looked inside the lids since she fastened it around my neck and told me as she kissed me that so long as I wore it next my heart I'd remain true to her—just as if I could ever dream of being false to Susie!"

By the campfire he opened his coat and hunting shirt and brought to light a slender gold chain that hung about his neck, and at the end of which there was a flat, golden medallion.

He opened it, kissed the picture with the adoration of a pagan for his idol and then let us look at the face of a beautiful blue eyed girl of 19 or 20, who seemed so lifelike that it looked more like the reflection in a mirror than a colored ivorytype.

"Susie Burns ain't rich, for heaven couldn't give her all the blessings without being unfair," continued Frank as he restored the picture to his breast, "but she'll be rich some day if there's gold to be found in these mountains.

"Meanwhile, while I'm out here prospecting, Susie's a-teaching school down by the banks of the Cumberland, and you can bet if she has any time to spare from her work she puts it in a-praying for me. That's why I feel so doggoned sure, boys, that we are going to win. I tell you that an outfit can't fail that has an angel like that a-praying for it."

Frank filled us with his enthusiasm, and Ned Copley and myself felt that we, too, were interested in the girl, as we were very sure she would have been in us had she known the circumstances.

I don't know the name of the stream, for it was in the days before names were given to every strip of wet ground in the west, but it rose in the avalanches of the Sierra Madre and came down by our camp ice cold, and as it brought flecks of yellow gold with it we decided to stop there and go to panning out the gravel.

We did fairly well. What we got would have been big wages anywhere else, but to compensate for what we suffered and the dangers we faced we naturally wanted more.

A hundred dollars a day between three wasn't so bad, but we were in a mood when $1,000 a day would not have satisfied us.

My, my, how hard and cheerfully Frank did work! Why, he got so deeply interested in that unknown girl, away on the banks of the Cumberland in old Kentucky, that he got into the habit of saying every morning, as we ate breakfast by the light of the campfire, "Another day's work for Susie, boys!"

Although the strongest of the three, Frank was not used to this sort of rough life, and I soon saw it began to tell on him, and I wanted him to let up, but the brave fellow stuck to it, working in the ice cold water till he was taken down with chills, followed by a burning fever.

We had some quinine and a few simple remedies for cuts and bruises along, and with these and the skill that came of long years in the wilds we did the best we could for our partner.

Now comes the remarkable part of my story. I've seen men down with the fever when they got so wild they had to be tied, but while Frank was clear out of his head he kept just as peaceful as ever, only that he insisted that up the creek were great caves full of gold, and that the specks we had been picking out of the gulch came from there.

He wanted us to start up there, saying we could get all the gold in a day we wanted for a lifetime.

Of course Ned Copley and I humored Frank and told him we'd go if he'd hurry up and get well, but he swore that instead of being sick he was as strong as a giant.

The third night after Frank was taken down he seemed to be resting quietly, so Ned and I, who had been taking turns watching, thought it would be safe to drop off to sleep—kind of lightly—and we did so.

When we woke up in the early morning and saw that Frank Edgerton's cot was empty and his clothes and pick and revolver gone, you may try to imagine, but you can never realize, just how we felt.

We cooked a hasty breakfast; then, picking up enough provisions from our little store to last three days, we hid the rest, left the mule hid in a little valley where there was lots of grass and then started off to find our insane friend.

Remembering his ravings about "the gold caves" up near the snow line, we determined to follow the creek. We could read a trail as well as an Indian, but the rocks were too hard to retain the impression of a human foot. Yet now and then we saw signs to encourage us.

The creek branched into a dozen streams farther up, and it was only after long consultations that we decided which to take, and then for no reason that would not have applied quite as well to the other stream.

It was a rough, hard road, and now and then as we went on we stopped to shout Frank's name or to discharge our rifles, but only the echoes came back for reply.

That night, thoroughly fagged out, we halted close to the snow line—indeed there were white patches all about us and not a sign of a shrub to make a fire. With a little alcohol lamp we made some coffee and lay down under our blankets, spoon fashion, to keep warm.

We were up by daylight and started off again, this time without coffee, for we had only about a gill of alcohol for the lamp, and we reasoned that poor Frank would want something warm if we found him alive.

Another terrible day and another awful night, and still no sign of Frank Edgerton. We gave him up, and with sad hearts were returning, when Ned, who has eyes like telescopes, said he saw something moving near the snow line across the valley.

There had been an immense snowslide down the valley not an hour before, but we got across, and there under the ledge of rocks, with a great pile of loose glittering stones about him, lay Frank Edgerton, looking like a dead man.

While Ned made some coffee I rubbed Frank with snow till his skin felt warm; then we forced coffee between his teeth, and wrapping one blanket about him we made a stretcher out of the other and our two rifles, so as to carry him down to camp, no easy job, I can tell you.

Just as we were about to start off Ned noticed the pile of stones—Frank's pockets were full of them—and those lying about had evidently been brought there by him. But they were fully one-half solid gold.

Frank Edgerton had discovered the caves of his feverish dreams.

We got him back to camp, and we took turns nursing him and carrying down the gold so mysteriously found with him under that ledge, and the source of which had been concealed by the snowslide.

"To make a long story short," as we used to say when I was a boy, Frank got well. When he was able to travel, we started back to Taos, carrying with us about 130 pounds of solid gold.

We made a second and a third trip to find "the gold caves," of which Frank remembered nothing, and others have often tried it since, but they were lost quite as mysteriously as they were found.

Frank Edgerton had, however, for his share enough money to return to Kentucky and marry the fair Susie Burns. That they are happy as the day is long I can vouch for, for I visited them less than a year ago, and I was highly flattered to find that his oldest son was named after me.—New York Advertiser.

—Pearline. The first washing-compound ever made, and the best. Proved to be absolutely harmless to anything that is washed—both by the women who have used it for years, and by scientific tests.

But the enormous demand for Pearline—for something that will save work and yet be safe to use, has started a host of washing-powders, all imitations of Pearline. They ought to make women think. If you can get risky help from a poor imitation, why not get safe help from the original and the best? If you used the cheapest washing-powder for a year, instead of Pearline, you couldn't save enough to pay your loss in one ruined garment. 407 JAMES PYLE, New York.

"America's Greatest Men and Women."

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

MR. WILSON TALKS.

MY Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did, to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much value, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess.

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy and secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end—and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

Salts of the Body.

It is a surprising fact that of all the organic salts of our body we only take one—sodium chloride, or common salt—from inorganic nature and add it to our food. All other salts are present in organic food stuffs in quantities sufficient to our requirements. We have no need to seek for them elsewhere.—Detroit News.

THREE BROTHERS ASPHYXIATED.

Sad Death of Little Children Who Locked Themselves in a Closet.

HARTFORD, Conn., July 30.—Raymond, aged 9, Leroy, 7, and Freddie, 4, the children of James W. Cannon, a locomotive engineer on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, who had been missing since Thursday afternoon when they went to bathe in the Connecticut river, were found dead yesterday in the closet of a freight caboose standing on a side track near the round house, not 300 feet from their home. After numerous searches for two days, Chief of Police Bill ordered the freight cars and railroad property searched, and two policemen were drawn to the caboose by the smell of decomposing flesh. In the trainsmen's closet, shut by a spring lock, they found the three bodies entirely nude and badly decomposed. The inquest by Medical Examiner Fuller disclosed no evidence of foul play, and he gave a verdict of accidental death by asphyxiation. The caboose was newly painted and the children went in it to play, a pack of cards being found in the closet. It is supposed they closed the door and could not open it, and soon suffocated in the stifling hot air of the narrow enclosure.

Emissaries from Lilinokalani.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Messrs. H. A. Wideman, Samuel Parker, J. A. Crimmins and Major Seward passed through Chicago last evening en route to Washington from Honolulu. Mr. Wideman, speaking on behalf of the party, said they bore credentials from the ex-queen to the Washington government. He declined to make the object of the commission known, but stated "that the cat would be out of the bag" soon after their arrival in Washington. "In a general way," he said, "our mission is for the good of the islands, no matter what is the government, monarchy provisional or republic." Mr. Wideman seemed in doubt as to the official reception of the party in Washington, but hoped to be able to reach the ear of the president.

Fourteen Hours in the Water

BOSTON, July 29.—The schooner Cactus has arrived here from Baltimore, coal laden. Captain Wiley reports that on July 22, when off Cape Henry, he picked up a man from the water. The rescued man gave the name of George Moore, and stated that he had been a stowaway on the Johnston line steamer Templemore, from Liverpool to Baltimore. When the steamer neared Cape Henry Moore secured a life preserver and jumped overboard, hoping to swim ashore. The current swept him seaward, however, and he had been in the water fourteen hours when rescued.

Death of James Mulligan

MAYNARD, Mass., July 30.—James Mulligan, of "Mulligan Letter" fame, died here, aged 61. The Mulligan letters were written by James G. Blaine to Mr Fisher, and related to the dealings in railway land grant stocks and bonds. In the spring of 1876 they were published by being read in congress by Mr Blaine, Mr Mulligan having preserved them. The result of the investigation had a profound effect, and greatly injured Mr Blaine's chances for the presidency.

Killed by Lightning.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 29.—George B. Castle, aged 30, a grocer of this city, was instantly killed by lightning at Lake Onota last evening. Mr and Mrs. Castle and a party of friends, including Charles Johnson, H. G. Wagner, Mrs. Samuel Williams and a nurse and Miss Lake Wagner, who were camping on the north shore of the lake, were all prostrated by the shock.

DANVILLE, Ills., July 30.—Several attempts have been made to shoot the new engineers on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois who took the places of strikers. Cabs have been fired into the past week. Saturday night Engineer Albert Burns, whose home is at Galesburg, formerly of New York was shot in his cab at the junction, dying shortly afterwards.

A Washerwoman's Windfall.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 30.—Mrs. Ann Hosie, a washerwoman, of this city, has received word that she has fallen heir to a large fortune from an uncle, Peter Stratton, of Dundee, Scotland, amounting to $200,000. Mrs Hosie has supported herself and seven children for the past twenty years by taking in washing.

Into an Open Switch.

COLUMBUS, Neb., July 30.—Union Pacific fast mail No 3 from the east ran into a freight train near here. The mail went into an open switch, and both engines collided and, with their trains, were badly wrecked. All the train hands and passengers escaped unhurt. A man, evidently a tramp named George A. Burke, was killed.

Money Plenty in London.

LONDON, July 30.—Money is still in unprecedented abundance. It is estimated that the open market controls nearly £8,000,000 sterling. There has been no change in rates. The plethora has encouraged many issues of new capital of first class existent and new ventures.

Vineland's School Board Controversy.

VINELAND, N. J., July 30.—The board of education elected on Friday, in order to circumvent any move their opponents, the woman suffragists, might make, organized by electing O. H. Adams president, and Levi D. Johnson clerk. Lawyer Alvord, counsel for the women, says the next move will probably be to take out a quo warranto and try to have the election set aside.

Collision of Trolley Cars.

PROVIDENCE, July 30.—Two electric cars collided on the Riverside line last evening. Both cars were crowded with excursionists going to and coming from shore resorts, and the cars turned the corner at the same time. Both cars were badly broken and Albert Holt, motorman of the north bound cars, and four passengers were seriously injured.

Stabbed by His Father.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., July 30.—While Ambrose Mavriensehank, of Dunellen, was intoxicated he assaulted his son Frank with a large knife and stabbed him several times. He was arrested and taken to the Middlesex county jail at New Brunswick, where he was held to await the result of his son's injuries.

Policeman Shot by a Negro.

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 30.—William W. Weatherred, one of the oldest policemen on the Lexington force, was shot last night and instantly killed by William Clark, a negro, whom he was trying to arrest. The negro was captured and lodged in jail. Weatherred was a Confederate soldier.

Injured by a Driving Accident

ARDMORE, Pa., July 30.—Joseph M. Baltz, who resides near Gladwyne, and his brother, John, were thrown from a carriage on their way to the Baltz mill by the horse running away. The latter sustained severe injuries, a leg being broken and his head and face being contused and cut while the former was considerably bruised.

Both Duelists Killed.

SELMA, Ala., July 30.—Two policemen, T. Day and W. E. Clarke, who live in the same house, became involved in a quarrel as to which was to vacate the house, as they could not live together without quarreling incessantly. Finally shots were exchanged that killed them both. The men were cousins, and both were married.

Terribly Burned by Gasoline.

PRIME MINISTER STOILOFF.

Interesting Career of the Statesman Who Has Overthrown Stambuloff In Bulgaria.

Dr. Stoiloff, the new prime minister of Bulgaria, who has succeeded in overthrowing Stambuloff, the "Bismarck of Bulgaria," is a statesman of considerable ability and experience, and a devoted friend of Prince Ferdinand, who rules Bulgaria, but does not enjoy the recognition of the powers of Europe. Dr. Stoiloff was born in Philippopolis and is about 43 years of age. He was educated at Robert college in Constantinople and at Heidelberg university.

DR. STOILOFF.

In 1879 he was a member of the constitutional convention at Tirnova, and was one of the delegation chosen for the important mission of submitting to the czar for his approval the choice of Prince Alexander of Battenberg to be prince of Bulgaria. He was the prince's secretary when Alexander visited the courts of Germany, Austria and Constantinople and saw the enthusiastic reception accorded the prince when he entered Bulgaria.

In 1883 Dr. Stoiloff was sent to Russia as a diplomatic agent of the Bulgarian government at St. Petersburg. When a prominent Russian statesman asked him, "Whom and what do you represent—Bulgaria freed by us and the prince set upon his throne by the czar?" the words were such a blow to Stoiloff's national pride that he at once returned to Sofia. During the war with Servia Stoiloff was an officer on the prince's staff and remained faithful to him, even in 1886, when the prince left Bulgaria forever. The following year Stoiloff visited the courts of Europe, seeking on behalf of the sobranje acceptable candidates for the vacant throne. After long negotiation in Vienna he secured the acceptance of Prince Ferdinand of Coburg.

THE BRYANT POETS' FESTIVAL.

Centennial of the Birth of the Author of "Thanatopsis" at His Old Home.

William Cullen Bryant, the poet, would have been 100 years old on Nov. 3 of this year had he lived, and the centennial of his birth will be appropriately celebrated by a festival of poets in the Berkshire hills of Massachusetts on Aug. 16. The old Bryant home is in western Massachusetts, between the towns of Cummington and West Cummington, and the festival will be held near the old home, where Parke Godwin, the poet's son-in-law, has a residence. Parke Godwin will preside, Rev. Robert Collyer will deliver the invocation, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe and Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes have been asked to read poems, and among those invited to be present is Hon. John Howard Bryant of Princeton, Ills.

John H. Bryant is the only surviving brother of William Cullen Bryant. He was born at Cummington in 1807 and removed to Illinois in 1831, where he became justice of the peace for Putnam county in 1834. He has been twice a member of the Illinois legislature and has held other modest offices. Until his sixtieth year Mr. Bryant was an enthusiastic farmer. He has won modest fame as a poet and has published two volumes of verse.

William Cullen Bryant's greatest poem, "Thanatopsis," was written at Cummington when he was but 18 years of age. It was while wandering through the primeval forests, over the floor of which were scattered the gigantic trunks of fallen trees, moldering for long years and suggesting an indefinitely remote antiquity, that the poem was composed. When the young poet left Cummington to begin his law studies, he left the poem among his papers. When his astonished and delighted father found it, he read it to a lady who happened to be in the house, and both were moved to tears. The poem was printed in The North American Review in September, 1817.

Burning Novels at the Stake.

The Salvation Army held a "novel burning night" in Dunedin, New Zealand, recently. In the center of the ring on a bier were placed "yellow backs" of all kinds, ranging from "Blue cap, the Buccaneer" to some of Besant's works. The proceedings were under the leadership of Captain Chapple and Lieutenant Mathers. The former declared that if persons gave their time, money and admiration to novels they were idolaters quite as much as the heathen who worshiped his ugly elephant. Works like Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin," written for a purpose, were excepted, but the average novel was denounced in scathing terms and was declared to be to all intents and purposes a "yellow back." Water of the covers, with a dash of petrol, it was found on to quell professional religion. After some singing and addresses some 300 books and periodicals were destroyed.

PEARL HARBOR.

Protected by Sharks and Turtles and Likely to Be the Pacific's Gibraltar.

No finer trip out of Honolulu can be made than to Pearl City by water. The route is just outside the surf line. A light boat with a small load may go inside the breakers. So soon as the boat is fairly headed for Barber's point the sport begins. The water is alive with monster turtles and big sharks. You may shoot the former or hook the latter. Every time the craft gets into the breakers interest in the trip is heightened to the point that men who like to adventure glory in. Loss of control of the boat means a ducking, if nothing more. Mullet flop out of the water in the old Kalihi fishing grounds, and when well into Pearl harbor you pass the famous shark trap and more mullet preserves. Ducks fly overhead, and a short distance back from the shore line there are wild turkeys, pheasants and occasionally a pig. Ford's island is viewed with interest.

When Pearl harbor is an accomplished fact, with masked batteries at its entrance, the island will have behind its fortifications the modern mid-Pacific station of the United States. As an ancient salt plant is passed and the abandoned shark rending kettles noted, the great Ewa plantation, with its large mill and wide canefields, melt into the scene. Glasses are then trained upon the splendid ranches of farseeing pioneers. Each holding is a little empire. Catboats and yachts going to Pearl river for fresh water are passed by the launch as though they were at anchor. At the landing is tied the yacht Kaiuland, of whose speed some enthusiast tells. She is waiting to be loaded with rice from the mill with its tramway to the dock. Rice-fields, taro patches, cocoanut groves, banana orchards and truck gardens on the main land are cut up by Pearl river and its branches and by irrigating ditches. Natives sit in the shade. Chinamen pass up and down the track of the Oahu Railway and Land company, newly ballasted. Parties are bathing, lounging at pretty Remond grove, with its green carpets and electric plant, at the depot, store or ranch-house.

A birdseye view of Pearl City and its surroundings is a treat. It is best had from an elevation in the future metropolis itself. Maukai there glints and shimmers on the placid surface of Pearl harbor, deep, well sheltered and with room enough for every warship afloat. Past its throat rolls the grand Pacific, the friendly ocean, pleasant in itself as it is in dreams of conquest. On the Ewa side of the observatory the "distant hills of Waianae," miniature mountains, have the inviting tinge of distance. Barber's point is low. The lookout can sweep the sea for miles beyond the peninsula and announce the approach of any vessel. On the Waikiki side Honolulu, with its trees and spires, its smokestacks and masts, seems very close. Rugged Diamond head, which grows upon every beholder, has at 14 miles a better defined shape and sharper outline than it affords with a closer view. Again the sentinel may command the sea for miles upon miles. The background of all this is a range of hills from which a watcher can scan almost the entire island. It is all a magnificent panorama that can be taken in at a glance.

Pearl City is quite a little place. It is laid off in wide avenues and large lots. There are stores, residences and a couple of small hotels. In the valleys back are the pineapple ranches, every one a success. The waterworks of the railroad company are prominent, and the courthouse tells of the domain of the law. The location for a city is admirable.—Hawaiian Star.

C. MACARDELL, PUBLISHER.

GEORGE H. THOMPSON, C. MACARDELL, } EDITORS
J. F. ROBINSON, CITY EDITOR
A. E. NICKINSON, BUSINESS MANAGER

MONDAY, JULY 30, 1894.

"The Lesson of the Recent Strikes," forms the subject of an important and timely symposium in the North American Review for August, by four men especially competent to deal with the question—General Nelson A. Miles, who was in command of the federal troops at Chicago during the recent troubles; the Hon. Wade Hampton, United States Commissioner of Railroads; Harry P. Robinson, Editor of the Railway Age, and Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor.

When the McKinley bill became a law, this paper predicted a consequence of it, in the not remote future, would be wheat at fifty cents a bushel in Chicago. That prediction has been realized, and the much boasted high protection home market fetich has gone to smash. It was not required that one should be a prophet, nor the son of a prophet to read this calamity in the skies, for plain it was that if we refused the rest of the world a show in our market, the rest of the world would find means of getting along with very little of what we have to sell. And so, instead of shipping wheat to the other side, we are shipping gold; instead of getting rich out of the soil, we are practically giving our wheat away, for what is selling for less than cost of production, but giving away?

BREEDERS OF POPULAR DISCONTENT.

The Scranton Truth charges the partisan press of the country with being in large part responsible for popular discontent, an outgrowth of which is Anarchy. The Scranton Truth has "hit it,"—"hit it hard." Think a moment and you will agree with it. Is it not the fact that the average party organ not only never gives credit to the opposition for trying to do the right thing, the patriotic, public spirited thing, anything for the common good; and that not stopping with this, seeks to have it believed that every utterance, every act and every policy of the "enemy" is born of the devil.

What more natural, more inevitable, than that the final effect of this sort of thing is to destroy faith in Government, faith in men, which done, converts the individual into a disciple of Herr Most, ready for lessons in murder-with dynamite.

How far from the truth the inculcators of these lessons in distrust and hatred are.

The greater number of the leaders of each of the two great political parties of the country are animated and governed by the highest, the purest and the most patriotic motives and incentives. Err in judgment they may, err they do, but mistakes of head are not faults of heart. What is true of the leaders of the two great parties is also true of their followers, even though the poison given out by a venomous partisan press has here and there taken root among the body of the people.

That great soldier, sincere patriot, noble citizen, General Tecumseh Sherman, once said:

"If this country is ever given over to Socialism, Communism and the devil, the newspapers will be to blame for it."

VIGILANT DID NOT START.

Withdrawn from To day's Race Just Before Starting Time—Her Bowsprit Gear Said to Be Out of Order.

By United Press.

FALMOUTH, July 30.—Contrary to expectations Mr. Gould decided at the last moment not start the Vigilant in to-day's race. Owing to the disarrangement it is not likely she will be in trim for racing again before Saturday.

The withdrawal of the Vigilant caused the deepest disappointment among yachting men and visisors, thousands of whom had assembled to witness the performance of the Vigilant. There are a number of rumors afloat, which disagree with the reason advanced by Mr. Gould for not racing. The real reason is believed to be the lightness of the wind.

The Brittania and Satanito started in to-day's race. The Brittania won by 16 minutes.

The Vigilant has started for Cowes under her own sails.

SUNDAY'S TORRID HEAT.

All Records Broken—The Hottest Day of the Season.

Yesterday was by all odds the hottest day of the season and the hottest known in years.

In New York there were eight deaths from heat, and in Brooklyn four.

While the thermometer in the Government Weather Bureau at the top of the Equitable building registered only ninety-four, or one degree less than on Saturday, others nearer the ground, which had stored up much of the heat of the previous day, registered much higher than on Saturday, the maximum at 3:30 p. m. being 102°, and at 6 o'clock in the evening it was 98°.

The average temperature at the Weather Bureau was twelve degrees higher than the average of the same day in the past twenty years.

Reports from various localities show that the hot wave was very generally distributed throughout the East.

At Newburgh the temperature reached 98½ at noon and 102 at 3 p. m.

At Rondout the mercury rose to 101° in the shade during the afternoon.

In this city the highest record we have heard of was 96° in the shade.

HOT WEATHER HINTS.

Meats and Ice Cold Drinks to Be Used Sparingly.

The New York World says that people who drink copiously of ice cold beer, of iced cocktails, iced lemonades, or even of ice water, in such weather as this, do not surprise the coroner when they are taken to the morgue. He is expecting them, and he has also a few reserve slabs for those who eat "regular dinners," surfeiting themselves with heavy meat soups, roasts and all manner of side dishes, which would surfeit a Manitoba field-hand. When the thermometer is above ninety people do not need meat more than once a day, and not much of it then. They should supply its place with fruit, and not too much of that. If, in place of the heavier foods, they will drink half a dozen glasses of cool milk a day, they will need nothing else to drink and not very much else to eat.

—The congregation of St. Joseph's Church, Wurtsboro, are making elaborate preparations for holding their fourth annual summer festival at Cunningham's Grove, for the benefit of their church, Aug. 11th. The usual attractions and decorum, which have distinguished the efforts of St. Joseph's Church, will certainly attract many in their efforts to benefit a worthy cause. The festival will be held during the afternoon and evening of Saturday Aug. 11.

Sudden Death of Rockland County's Defaulting Postmaster.

Postmaster Chas. W. DeBevoise, of Congers, Rockland county, died, yesterday. On Thursday last Post Office Inspector Morris discovered a shortage in his accounts with the government of $1,100.

DeBevoise made an assignment to his bondsmen who made good the shortage.

It was supposed to be a case of suicide, but the physicians who made an autopsy claim that heart disease was the cause of death.

This Is Worth Knowing.

A very simple but little known method of keeping ice is to draw a piece of thick flannel tightly over some deep vessel, like a bowl, for instance, and fasten it there. The ice is placed on top of this drumhead and covered tightly by another piece of flannel. In this condition the ice keeps cool, and even freezes to the flannel. Thus a small piece of ice can be kept near a patient all night, so as to avert many weary marches up and down stairs to the refrigerator.

if you can't live right. If one does without the refinements and amusements he might as well be a turnip. Human vegetation isn't life; mere existence isn't living. "ADAMANT" WALL PLASTER!

The New, Cheap Substitute for Common Plaster.

It is very hard and very adhesive; it does away with the warping and shrinkage of doors and sashings, and the building is not saturated with water, as it necessarily must be when common plaster is used; it costs originally but little more than lime plaster, and in the end its superior qualities make it immeasurably cheaper; it saves waiting several weeks or months for the building to dry out; it does not crack or fall off, even in the case of leakage; it is applied easily by any good plasterer; it is the only material with which repairing can be done neatly and to stay.

SUCCESS WITH SUMMER BOARDERS

means attention to little things. A great deal depends upon the table, not merely the abundance of the food, but its quality, the skill with which it is prepared and the neatness and taste with which it is served. Then comes the question of dessert. It is the dessert which leaves the most lasting impression. A dish of good Ice Cream is relished by almost everyone, but the Ice Cream MUST BE GOOD. Above all the Flavor must be perfect. Don't use poor Flavors at any price. The palate is quick to note an insult of this kind. It is the Flavor which makes or mars the Ice Cream. McMonagle & Rogers' Pure Extract Vanilla makes the Ice Cream a success every time. For many years it has been the favorite with the best housekeepers in America. It is sold by the best grocers from Maine to California.

ROBBING UNCLE SAM.

Young Thieves Detected in Pilfering at the Newburgh Postoffice—Attended the Circus at Government Expense.

Some time ago the plate glass over the call boxes in the Newburgh Post Office, was broken, nobody knew how. Later the suspicious actions of some small boys who made a practice of hanging around the office, attracted the attention of the clerks and they were watched.

Sunday morning, a boy was caught with his hand through the opening in the glass, reaching for the stamp money drawer.

The young scamp and a companion were captured and on a threat of hanging, made a confession implicating several other boys. They admitted breaking the glass and having stolen enough money to take the crowd to the circus. How much money has been stolen is not known.

A New Primary Teacher for the Misses Porter's School.

The Misses Porter have engaged a teacher for the primary department for the coming year. She is a young lady of fine attainments, lovely character, and is well adapted for the position. Another teacher has been engaged for elocution and physical culture, experienced and eminently successful, formerly of Ogout's school. The teachers of the other departments will return at the opening of the school.

Killed by the O. and W. Milk Train.

An unknown man was struck and instantly killed by the second section of the O. and W. milk train, at Storm King, one and one-half miles south of Cornwall, yesterday morning. He was walking on the south bound track, and stepped out of the way of West Shore train 6 directly in front of the O. and W. train. Coroner Miller, of Highland Falls, held an inquest.

Bicyclists Meet With Accidents.

Several of the cyclists who participated in the races at the Campbell track, on Wednesday last, met with accidents at Manhattan Field, New York, on Saturday. They all escaped without serious injury, however. but their machines were demolished in the collisions, which occurred in the one-half mile handicap races. Royce, Blauvelt, Coffin and Scott were all more or less bruised.

Children Must Attend School.

There are stormy times ahead for the boys and girls who play hookey from school. Next fall a new law against truancy goes into effect in this State and nothing but sickness will excuse a boy or girl between the ages of eight and fourteen from attendance at school. Children between fourteen and sixteen must attend school at least 50 days during the year.

Another Hot Wave Coming.

The Herald's weather prophecy, today, is that the hot wave will surely pass away over the Atlantic and less sultry and slighly cooler weather will follow. But another hot wave is forming in the West which may reach us by Tuesday evening.

OBITUARY.

Charles Deeney.

Charles Deeney died in New York, yesterday, aged sixty years. The cause of death was a sunstroke, sustained a week before. Mr. Deeney was a native of Howells Depot and went to New York twenty-eight years ago and engaged in the milk business. He was very successful and retired from business a year ago with a snug fortune. Mrs. Margaret Finn, of Howells, is a sister.

The remains will be brought to this city, to-morrow, on O. and W. train No. 1, and will be taken from the train at Main street at 10:35. There will be a requiem high mass at St. Joseph's Church. Interment in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

A BARN SET ON FIRE.

An Incendiary Who Had a Heart.

The barn of William Pountney, of Port Jervis, was discovered to be on fire, Friday night, but the flames were extinguished before doing a great amount of damage.

Mr. Pountney's team of mules, which had been put in the stable that evening, were found in a field near by.

The building was doubless fired by some one who had heart enough to remove the animals to save them from suffering.

Recorder's Court.

—Residents of the North End were disturbed, last night, by the noise of a violent quarrel, which was in progress in apartments at the corner of North street and Wisner avenue. The police were summoned, and a woman in an advanced state of intoxication was arrested upon complaint of her husband upon the charge of disorderly conduct. A pitiful tale of domestic infelicity was recited before the Recorder, this morning, and the woman was discharged with a severe reprimand.

—A case of disorderly conduct, based upon charges preferred by a Middletown blacksmith against a fellow craftsman from out of town, which was to have been heard this morning, was adjourned until August 6th.

Sustained by the General Term.

The General Term of the Supreme Court has sustained the decision of M. H. Hirschberg, as referee, in the in the case of Crosby vs. William H. Clark, as executor of the last will of the late County Judge John G. Wilkin, of Middletown. In this action the plaintiff had been awarded $1,000. that being money he had given Judge Wilkin for investment on bond and mortgage.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

Secured a Position in Waverly—A Runaway—A Sunday Wedding—Wheelmen Enjoy a Ride—Five Dollars for a Drunk.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

—Harry Jonas has secured a position in a large clothing house at Waverly, N. Y. He left on No. 1, today, to assume his new duties.

—Thomas Finan's pair of horses got "gay," Saturday afternoon, and went off on their own account while the driver was unloading some beer. After a lively run across the park, upsetting the wagon, benches, etc., they were stopped in front of Levy's stationery store. The damage was very slight.

—Rev. Mr. Sellick, acting pastor of the M. E. Church, performed a marriage ceremony, last night, for a young couple, at the house of one of Goshen's prominent citizens, where he was taking tea. The couple were searching around for a minister, and being told where Mr. Sellick was, sought his aid.

—Veteran Van Keuran, of Jersey City, spent Sunday in town.

—Five members of the Goshen Cycle Club rode to Rosendale, yesterday, on their wheels. They returned about 5 p. m. Goodale and Landy are laid up for repairs to-day.

—"Bobby" Broadhead's aggregation of colored ball players will try to defeat the Goshen club Friday afternoon, at the Driving Park.

—Mr. Jack B. Scott spent Sunday at Manhattan Beach.

—Michael Maloney was drunk and disorderly, Saturday night. He was fined $5 by the accommodating Police Justice, yesterday morning. He paid the fine.

—J. W. Gott and family will spend the month of August at Indian Lake, N. Y.

A NOVEL TRANSFER TICKET.

How Binghamton Conductors are to Identify Holders of Tickets.

The Binghamton Railway Co. has devised a novel transfer ticket, by which it is expected that conductors will be able to identify the holders.

In addition to spaces for punching the routes from and to which a passenger is transferred, there are across the top several pictures of heads. There is a smooth faced man, a man with a moustache and others with side and chin whiskers and with a full beard.

The female types are also represented, the one with a sailor hat and the other with a poke bonnet.

The conductor who issue the transfer punches the picture most resembling the person to whom it is issued, and by this means the conductor who takes up the check is enabled to tell whether or not he receives it from the person to whom it was issued.

Can't Ride on Front of Newburgh Cars.

The Newburgh Electric Railway Co. has issued an order that passengers shall not ride on the seat on the front platform, and have stretched a chain on each side to insure an enforcement of the order. This rule applies no matter how the car may be crowded. If passengers cannot occupy the seat, then why should it be there? Why not utilize the space for seats inside the car.

Soliciting Advertisements for a Church Fair Paper.

Mrs. T. G. Mabie and Mrs. C. H. Terwilliger, of Pine Bush, were in town, this morning, soliciting advertisements for a paper, which the ladies of the M. E. Church purpose publishing in aid of a fair, which will be held in that village on Aug. 15th and 16th, for the benefit of the church.

Paterson's Poisoned Cherry Beer.

Dr. Sheeley, of New York, to whom were submitted samples of the cherry beer which caused the death of two boys named Baker and the severe illness of two women, has telegraphed the coroner that the beer contained enormous quantities of metallic poison. The beer was manufactured by a Paterson bottling establishment.

A Priest Who Rides a Bicycle.

Rev. Father Corrigan, of Paterson, rides a bicycle, and when making a tour on his wheel lays aside his clerical habiliments and dons a bicycle suit. He stopped at the General Hospital a day or two ago, and was not recognized in his knee breeches and was refused admission.

Sent to the Hudson Reformatory.

Amanda Celebretto, wife of a hard working Italian resident of Port Jervis, was sent to the Reformatory for Women at Hudson, Saturday, where she will have five years in which to repent of her evil ways. The complaint was made by the woman's mother.

A Horse Horse Driven to Death in Sunday's Heat.

A Middletown gentleman while driving on the old road to High View yesterday, saw a horse lying by the roadside, and a carriage standing near. The horse was covered with welts made by a whip, and was nearly dead from exhaustion. It had evidently been driven until it could go no father and then left to die.

A RETIRED BUSINESS WOMAN.

A Page From Her History.

The important experiences of others are interesting. The following is no exception: "I had been troubled with heart disease 25 years, much of that time very seriously. For five years I was treated by one physician continuously. I was in business, but obliged to retire on account of my health. A physician told my friends that I could not live a month. My feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I was indeed in a serious condition when a gentleman directed my attention to Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and said that his sister, who had been afflicted with heart disease, had been cured by the remedy, and was again a strong, healthy woman. I purchased a bottle of the Heart Cure, and in less than an hour after taking the first dose I could feel a decided improvement in the circulation of my blood. When I had taken three doses I could move my ankles, something I had not done for months, and my limbs had been swollen so long that they seemed almost putrified. Before I had taken one bottle of the New Heart Cure the swelling had all gone down, and I was so much better that I did my own work. On my recommendation six others are taking this valuable remedy."—Mrs. Morgan, 509 W. Harrison St., Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, a discovery of an eminent specialist in heart disease, is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from all opiates or dangerous drugs.

IN THE STEEL MILLS.

A WORKMAN'S ACCOUNT OF HIS FIRST DAY AT HOMESTEAD.

Awed by the Deafening Noise and Roaring Flames and Blistered by the Terrible Heat—The Fate of One Poor Man—Tossed With Aching Bones at Night.

When I went to the superintendent and asked for work, he said, "What can you do?"

"Anything. I am large, strong, active and willing. I have been about machinery all my life and want work badly."

He touched a button, and a boy appeared. "Show this man down to the converting mill and ask Fred if he can do anything for him. Good morning!" he said, and my interview was over.

I put on my new overalls and jumper and followed my guide down through the mills. We made our way through piles of stock, raw material, rolls, etc., and came at last to the huge converting mill. The superintendent was found and the word delivered. He glanced at me a moment; then said, not unkindly. "You look good and strong. Jump in and help those fellows there on those vessels."

I hardly knew what he meant, but through the smoke and steam I saw some men beneath one of the vessels, or converters, working with sledges and bars to get the bottom off. The mill, with its ponderous and massive cranes, the immense vessels all covered with black scale and soot, the flying sparks, the roaring flames, the lights coming and going, the air filled with steam and smoke, and, finally, the shrill and deafening noise, awed, confused and even disconcerted me more than I should have liked to acknowledge.

I seized a sledge lying near and jumped in. We at last got out the "keys," as they call the wedges which hold the converter together, and by the help of a hydraulic ram took the bottom off. This left a white hot opening 8 feet in diameter and about 6 feet from the ground, under which we must work. It seemed to me as though the skin on my neck and hands would burst with the heat. My clothes even steamed and smoked. How I wished I had been anywhere under the sun—good old Sol—rather than under this fiendishly hot sun hanging so very near us!

When we had the new bottom on, we went up to the platform above the converters and drove the keys home more securely and stopped any small hole there might be with "ball stuff."

A shrieking engine passed by me and swiftly poured into the converter a "heat" of iron. Then the blast was turned on, and a cloud of yellow and saffron flame, mixed with sparks and small particles of metal, rushed out of the mouth of the converter into the air. One of the men caught me by the arm and pulled me away just in time to save me from being seriously burned, for I was not expecting the flame.

By noon I was so tired I could hardly stand, but I stuck to it for all I was worth. During the afternoon I frequently fell down because my knees were too weak to hold me up. My hands were burned and blistered, and my new overalls were filled with holes burned by flying sparks. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon, while working under the platform, I was startled to see a stream of red fire run over the edge of the platform and strike in the midst of some workmen. As it touched the wet ground it exploded with a report like that of a cannon. The molten metal flew in every direction. Many workmen were burned more or less severely, and in the case of one poor fellow—it makes me sick still to think of it!—the steel came down directly on the head and back. We got him out of the steam and smoke and carefully and tenderly cut his burned clothing from him. As we placed him on the stretcher the burned flesh dropped from his bones.

When I was relieved at 6 o'clock, it seemed as if it would have been utterly impossible for me to live in that mill another hour. I dragged myself to my room and went to bed at once. All that night I tossed and turned my aching bones, trying to get into some position less painful than the last. I was tortured by a thousand grotesque fancies and by the picture of the poor fellow who was burned so badly. At last I got into an uneasy drowse, but I felt as if I had not been asleep a minute when my alarm clock announced to me that it was 4 45, and that I must get up to my 5:10 breakfast. Oh, the misery of that rising and going to the mill! Every bone and sinew seemed as if made of redhot iron, and the joints as if rusted together.

It was a dark, foggy morning, I found, when, having desperately got up enough will power to dress, I tumbled out to my boarding house. The Pittsburg smoke and fog are proverbial, but I really think that on that particular morning one might have cut tangible chunks out of the black, wet air. The board walks in Homestead are never in repair, and on the way to the mills I stumbled along through mud and stones, over boards and into holes, carrying in my hand my tin dinner bucket, which contained my midday meal.

On my first Sunday we relined the converter, and it became my duty to stand up in the inverted vessel and hand up the ball stuff and limestone with which to reline it. The vessel had been left to cool simply over night, and I suppose the temperature of the dry air inside of it stood at about 140 degrees. I worked as hard as I could, but near noon I fainted for the first time in my life.

My experience at Homestead was the experience of the majority of workmen there.—"Homestead as Seen by One of Its Workmen" in McClure's Magazine.

ONCE ON A TIME.

At teatime in the ruddy light—
Chrysanthemums were in their glory—
My baby came to say good night
And beg for "just one little story."

I told her how a girl like her
Came long ago, somewhere or other,
And brought in a doll and made a stir
And begged a story from her mother,

Who, tired and listless, also crossed
The little story begging beauty
With news of how another glossed
Her irksome story telling duty.

Still backward was the tale referred
To weary her, but when I ended,
As if I had not said a word,
With looks half pleading, half offended,

She clasped my neck—her childish trust
Had made the hardest heart compliant—
"A little one," she said, "please—just
About a fairy and a giant."

I kissed her close, and off I went:
"Once on a time," low, slow and steady.
She heaved a sigh of sweet content—
My darling was asleep already.
—Menzies Macdonald in Good Words.

Their Verdict.

Many are the stories told of the remarkable verdicts brought in by inefficient juries, but there could scarcely be a better illustration of what a certain legal man calls "colossal inefficiency" than the story he tells of the verdict given by a jury in a western city. The case under trial was that of a man who—accidentally, as almost every one believed—had fatally shot a friend while the two were off with a hunting party.

The accused person was a prominent citizen of the place and was greatly beloved as well as respected by every one who knew him.

As the trial proceeded the faces of the jurymen were filled with anxiety. When they at last retired, it became evident to them that the prisoner could not be acquitted of all blame, according to the evidence, but they decided that if he must be considered guilty of something they would make that something as light as possible. Accordingly the foreman gravely announced on the return to the courtroom that they found the prisoner "guilty of drunkenness."

In spite of the gravity of the case a ripple of amusement ran over the courtroom at this verdict. The judge, with considerable severity and with great clearness, again charged the jury and again they retired.

A long interval elapsed. At last they came straggling in again. Once more the foreman confronted the judge and thus announced the verdict:

"We find the prisoner guilty of manslaughter in the third degree, but"—this in a tone of something like defiance—"we don't believe he did it!"—Youth's Companion.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

A SULTAN AT SIXTEEN.

Abdul Aziz of Morocco, His Remarkable Slave Mother and His Many Troubles.

A country staggering under a load of debt, a civil war and four foreign nations watching for an excuse to seize his throne and his territory are a few of the difficulties that confront Abdul Aziz, the boy sultan of Morocco, who was elevated to the office upon the recent death of his father, Sultan Muley Hassan. His seaports are full of the warships of England, Spain, France and Italy; his uncle, Muley Ismail, is disputing his right to rule Morocco at Fez, and he has a one eyed elder brother, named Muley Mohammed, who thinks that if any sultan business is to be done in Morocco he is just the boy to do it. Strange as it may seem, there is an element of strength in the fact that four foreign nations are casting greedy eyes at his country. Each nation is like the dog in the manger—if it cannot feed on Morocco hay, it is very sure to prevent any other nation from doing so.

Abdul is only 16 years old, but he has a fair army behind him and the good old constitutional right of lopping off any heads that do not please his eye, and consequently the situation does not daunt him. His mother was a beautiful Circassian woman named Ayesha, who was a slave, but who gained complete ascendancy over the late sultan. She was educated in Europe, speaks Spanish and French and has cleverly used her great power over Muley Hassan to procure the advancement of her son.

Three years ago, when Abdul was only 13, she cajoled the sultan into appointing Abdul viceroy of the kingdom of Fez, with ample maintenance and a court of his own. This step broke the heart of the one eyed Muley Mohammed, who is the eldest son of the late sultan, for his mother was a legitimate Shereefa and not a slave, like Ayesha, the mother of Abdul. The one eyed Muley's protests were unavailing, however, and the sultan's act was generally regarded as an indication that he desired Abdul to succeed him.

When the sultan's political testament was opened after his death, it was found that Ayesha had won the fight for the throne, and a council of regents was appointed to serve during the first years of Abdul's reign. With his mother behind him there seems no good reason why Abdul should not overthrow all his local enemies. She must be a remarkable schemer and diplomat, for the late sultan had some 2,000 wives and mistresses, who were constantly plotting to advance the interests of their favorites, but who were outwitted and outgeneraled by the Circassian slave woman.

THE PYTHIAN UNIVERSITY.

It Will Be Erected In Gallatin, Tenn., and Will Cost $250,000.

The Pythian University For the Order Universal now being erected at Gallatin, Tenn., will be the only authorized Pythian school in the country, it is said. The cornerstone was laid with impressive rites on May 2 in the presence of the grand lodge of Tennessee and prominent visiting Knights. The building is to be a four story structure surmounted by a picturesque dome. The frontage is to be 200 feet and the width 130 feet. The structure will be constructed of polished stone, with tile flooring and marble wainscoting, and will be as near fireproof as it is possible for man's ingenuity to make it.

The main entrance will lead to a spacious rotunda, from which a handsome marble stairway is to wind upward to the floors above. The basement will be a large hall, from which easy access may be had to the society halls on the first floor. The second and third floors will be partitioned off as recitation rooms, and one room will be used as a library on the second floor. The fourth story will contain the lodge room and lecture hall. The site of the structure is particularly attractive. It is on a hill one mile north of Gallatin and commands an excellent view of the town and surrounding country.

There are at present 500,000 Knights of Pythias, and the order is constantly growing. Another big building project they have on hand is a state Pythian home which is to be erected soon by the members of the order in New York state. There are 21,000 members of the order in the Empire State, and this year they are paying a per capita tax of 10 cents each, which will furnish $2,100 toward the project. Many lodges have also given substantial sums toward the enterprise. An act incorporating the institution under the name of the Pythian home was passed by the legislature and signed by the governor last year. The home will be a refuge for the disabled and indigent members of the order.

SHOTS HERE AND THERE

AN "ARGUS" MAN OFF DUTY AIMS AT SEVERAL SUBJECTS.

Unevenly Distributed showers—Earnings of Newburgh's Trolley Cars—No Occasion to Worry—Taking Chances of Death.

The showers with which Orange county has been blessed this season have been very unevenly distributed. Middletown and the section roundabout it and north of it have been peculiarly favored having had rain, and sometimes a good deal of it, whenever there were showers anywhere, but in the southern and southwestern parts of the county comparatively little rain has fallen in several weeks and vegetation of all kinds shows the effects of the protracted drouth.

Newburgh's electric road is doing a big business. The receipts on Sunday of last week, were $564 and the receipts on week days ran from $325 to $330 a day, of which about $125 comes from the Orange Lake division, while the balance is earned by the city line. The difference in popularity between electricity and horses as motive power, is shown by the fact that the horse cars did not average over $60 a day. Perhaps, however, the electric road will do no better after it ceases to be a novelty.

The Newburgh Telegram refers to the fact that Chicago and San Francisco, in which the great exposition and mid-winter fairs were held, were the centres of the recent strike trouble and indulges in some whimsical conjectures as to what will befall Newburgh after the great Orange county fair is held there in September. There is really little need for Newburgh to worry. Unless the management catches on to some new attractions and new ideas and Newburgh's business men and the farmers in the eastern part of the county show more interest in the exhibition than they seem likely to, the fair will not make so much of a sensation as to leave any after effects, good, bad or indifferent.

The small boys of the North End have lost the fear of the trolley cars that they had when the cars were a novelty and are now tempting death and tormenting the motormen by seeing who dare run across the track nearest to an approaching car. A day or two ago, I saw a youngster start from a crowd of boys standing near the curb and dash across the track, only a few feet in front of a rapidly approaching car. The motorman screwed down the brake and shouted an angry warning to the boy, who having made the transit in safety laughed derisively as the car went by. Had the boy made a misstep and fallen nothing could have saved him, but considering the chances that boys take, nothing ever does happen to them.

ST PETER WON'T LET HIM IN.

The Hallucination of a Patient at the State Hospital.

There is a patient at the State Hospital, in this city, who wants to go to Heaven, but is tormented with the hallucination that St. Peter has closed the gate against him.

He is perfectly harmless and is not kept in restraint, but is permitted to walk about the buildings and grounds.

No matter where he may be, he always imagines himself in front of the gates of Heaven seeking admittance.

His demands for admission through the pearly gates are not couched in the language that would be considered a passport by the devout Christian for he indulges in profanity with very great freedom.

Occasionally he will be quiet for a while, and, as if he saw in his diseased imagination the gate opened, he will make a rush and then with anger and disappointment in his countenance as he sees the entrance to the New Jerusalem closed against him, will shake his fist at St. Peter and with a bitter oath says: "Peter, ——— ———, why don't you let me in?"

Doubtless to this poor man his struggles for an entrance into Heaven are perfectly real, and the mental suffering he endures is beyond comprehension.

The North Street Pavement Cleaned.

Superintendent Van Duzer, this morning, attached hose to the hydrants and washed the sand from the asphalt paving on North street, much to the gratification of merchants who have been annoyed by the dust when the street was dry and the mud when it was wet after a rain or when sprinkled.

Evident to a Fireman.

Chief Engineer C. C. Boyd, of Port Jervis, met with a very serious accident, Saturday afternoon, while testing the fire engine. He had hold of the nozzle, and the force of the stream thrown was so great that he was knocked down and had his collar bone and one rib broken.

GONE-A-FISHING

Middletowners to Try Their Luck in Sullivan, Delaware and Pike Counties

The Erie milk train, this morning, carried a number of Middletowners, bound for fishing trips in Sullivan, Delaware and Pike counties. Rev. Thomas Gordon, D. D. accompanied by his father-in-law, Mr. Gray, and Mr. Swayze went to Stockport.

The advance guard of the large camping party, which will spend the next two weeks at Brink Pond, near Parker's Glen, Pike county, was composed of Messrs. Wickham Young, Frank Hulse and Bert Bradfield.

Mr. Galen Coleman and his son, Edward, together with the following of his employes, will spend several days in the vicinity of Yankee and McKee ponds in Sullivan county: C. Hallock, J. McMullin, Fred Thorne, R. H. Van Ness.

Ulster County's New Telephone Company.

From the Kingston Leader.

Patrons of the West Shore Telephone Company express great satisfaction with the workings of the lines and instruments. Milton, Marlborough, Highland, Clintondale and Plattekill are now talking successfully and Kingston will soon be reached. The Colvin transmitter has proved to be a most delicate and reliable instrument, and the magnetos and receivers used by the company are the best that can be procured.

Drink Distilled Water.

Editor Joseph Medill of the Chicago Tribune has convinced himself and is now trying to convince the rest of the world, that the great cause of physical ills is the lime we absorb in our drinking water. He says that at the age of seventy-one, by drinking distilled water, he has obtained a new lease of life. His rheumatism is gone, his heart is all right and his spirits are as buoyant as a schoolboy's.

What Wage Earners Might do by Self Denial.

Some statistical expert has ciphered out the fact that, if the wage earners of the United States will save the money which they now annually spend for whiskey, beer, etc., for 15 years, they would have enough extra cash on hand to buy up and own all the railroads in the country.

For Over Fifty Years.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used by millions of mothers for their children while teething. If disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of Cutting Teeth send at once and get a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for Children Teething. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures Diarrhœa, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the Gums and reduces Inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP."

"THE GOOD OLD TIMES."

Dr. Darwood Discusses on the Past and Present from an Appropriate Text of Scripture.

"Were the former times better than these? Or the former and the present times contrasted." This subject was considered by Rev. Dr. Darwood at St. Paul's Church, last evening, the scripture texts being selected from Psalms xi:1 and Ecclesiastes vii:10, "Our fathers have told us what work thou didst in their days, in the times of old, say not thou, what is the cause that the former days were better than these? For thou dost not enquire wisely concerning this."

The Doctor denied that the physical, moral or religious conditions of the people of former times were better than those of the present, and contrasted the past with present in many respect, affirming that this age is far in advance of any other in intellectual and spiritual power.

"Our fathers tell us there are no sermons preached or revivals enjoyed like the past," said the Doctor. "Some think the Holy Ghost has left the world in the hands of the devil, who is running the church by lightning express straight to the gates of hell. The fathers too often transfer their sorrows to the present, while they leave their joys for the past. The Holy Ghost power is the same in all ages; times of spiritual declension may occasionally come, as they have in all ages, but God rules. What we want is 100,000 pulpits to preach of sin, righteousness and a judgment to come, and millions of clear, ringing testimonies to tell of Jesus and His power to save from sin. Some complain that bad persons get into the church. If you are hunting for a church that has no bad men or women in it, you had better go to heaven, for there are no such churches on earth and never have been."

In contrasting the inventions of the past with those of the present as applied to ocean travel, Dr. Darwood said when he was brought to this country by his father, while a little boy, they were fifty-two days in crossing the Atlantic, but Mr. and Mrs. Iseman had just made the voyage in six days.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

Three Newburgh Young Men Take a Yacht Without Permission and are Upset in the River.

Jacob Kleimner, Frank Hercy and Hudson Moore, of Newburgh, took the sloop yacht Yum Yum without the owner's permission, last evening, and started for a sail on the Hudson. The sloop was struck by a squall and capsized.

The young men with difficulty climbed upon the hull of the boat where they clung in an almost exhausted condition until they were rescued by the occupants of another boat.

IN MEMORIAN

Resolutions of the W. C. T. U. on the Death of Mrs Margaret Cox.

At a regular meeting of the Middletown W. C. T. U., held July 26th, 1894, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, We are again reminded that from dust we came, and to dust sooner or later we must return, and as it has pleased God to remove from our midst our beloved sister, Margaret Cox,

Resolved, That in the death of Mrs. Cox our Union has lost a worthy and faithful, zealous and true coworker.

Resolved, That we deplore her death with unfeigned sorrow, and extend to her family the expression of our profound sadness and condolence in the loss of a mother.

Resolved, That a copy of the above be sent to the family, the same be recorded on the minutes of our Union, and also be forwarded to the daily papers.
